

LEGISLATIVE UPDATE

Dear Neighbor,

In this newsletter, you'll find important information about the upcoming General Election on Tuesday, November 3, including key dates and reminders to help you make your voice heard at the ballot box. Voting is one of the most important ways we can participate in our democracy, and I encourage everyone to make a plan to vote and stay informed throughout the election season.

You'll also find updates from my recent travels and community engagements, highlighting some of the people, organizations, and communities I've had the opportunity to connect with in recent weeks.

Finally, be sure to check out the "Save the Date" section to stay informed of upcoming community events.

Sincerely,

Eric Synenberg

Community Events

I'm excited to share with you some of the ways I have been staying engaged with our communities over the last several weeks. It's so important to me to remain connected, listen directly to the people we serve, and make sure our work reflects the needs, experiences, and priorities of our communities.

It was a pleasure to join Congresswoman Shontel Brown's initiative bringing community leaders together to discuss community needs across Northeast Ohio.

Senator Kent Smith and I were able to attend the grand opening of the new Euclid Recreation Center! A great new staple for residents.

The Children's Hunger Alliance invited me to see one of their summer feed sites, where they provide children with meals during the summer months. The work they do is invaluable!

I was proud to honor our constituent, Bartu, at the 9th Annual Leaf Party Day at the Beachwood Family Aquatic Center. This event, started by Bartu, honors his passion for connecting with others through nature.

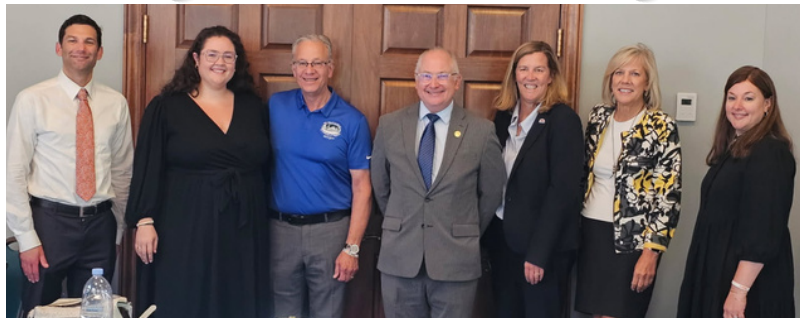

I was pleased to be able to meet with the CEO of Starting Point, an organization in Cleveland dedicated to preparing children and families for success in early education and beyond. Thank you for the great tour!

I had the opportunity to visit Northeast Ohio Medical (NEOMED) Center to learn about its medical programs and experience an OR firsthand, giving me an even deeper appreciation and respect for the skill, dedication, and care our medical professionals bring to their work every day.

Making Ohio a place where people want to bring their business has always been a top priority for me. I love when we are able to welcome new businesses, such as Noire Med Spa in Lyndhurst, to our district.

What an honor to join the Beachwood Mayor and City Council in celebrating the residents who have called Beachwood home for 50 years or more! It was a joy to honor 19 residents and their decades of memories, contributions, and commitment to our community.

A big shoutout to all the local officials who joined me for a productive conversation about how we can work together to strengthen our communities. I'm grateful for their insight and look forward to bringing their priorities to the statehouse.

COFFEE WITH CONSTITUENTS

Summer recess gives me an important opportunity to step out from behind the desk, and spend meaningful time in the communities I represent. Over the past several weeks, I was proud to host two opportunities for constituents to connect with me directly through coffee conversations.

These gatherings are about more than simply providing updates, they're a chance to listen. I value hearing directly from residents about the issues affecting their families, neighborhoods, and businesses, as well as the ideas they have for making our communities stronger.

I recently hosted one "Coffee with Constituents" at Tous Les Jours in Lyndhurst and another at Panera Bread in South Euclid. Both were great opportunities to have open, honest conversations with residents in a more informal setting.

A special thank you to the staff at both locations for being so welcoming and helpful in making these gatherings possible. I'm grateful to everyone who stopped by, shared their thoughts, and took the time to connect. I look forward to continuing to create opportunities like these to stay engaged with the communities I'm proud to represent.

One of the most pressing issues we heard from residents was affordability. From the rising cost of housing and groceries to higher utility bills and the everyday expenses that continue to add up, families are feeling the pressure. Making Ohio more affordable must remain a priority, and I will continue working with my colleagues to advance policies that help lower costs, strengthen household budgets, and make it easier for people to live and thrive in our communities.

We also heard from residents about concerns surrounding e-bikes and e-scooters, particularly when it comes to safety and responsible use. I'm taking those conversations directly back to the Statehouse and will be introducing legislation focused on addressing these concerns and helping ensure that our communities have clear, practical policies in place. I appreciate everyone who shared their experiences and ideas, and I look forward to turning those conversations into action.

LEARNING, CONNECTING, LEADING

Serving as your State Representative affords me the opportunity to attend conferences like the National Conference of State Legislators (NCSL), where I can learn from legislators, policy experts, and leaders from across the country. I was also appointed to serve on NCSL's Banking, Financial Services, and Insurance Committee and Law & Public Safety Committee. These appointments give me the opportunity to learn how other states are approaching some of the most important issues facing our communities and bring those ideas and perspectives back to Ohio. This experience also helps shape my work on the House Judiciary Committee, where I can apply what I've learned to the legislation and policies I consider at the Statehouse. Continuing to learn from other states and from experts in these areas makes me a better legislator and helps me better understand the connections between financial policy, public safety, and our justice system. I'm grateful for the opportunity to continue growing in these roles and bring that knowledge back home to better serve our communities.

That same commitment to learning extends beyond the Statehouse and into communities across Ohio. I had the opportunity to attend the Ohio State Fair this summer, which gave me a chance to learn more about the role agriculture plays in our state. While agriculture may not be a major part of the economy in District 21, it is an essential part of communities across the state. From the farmers who grow our food to the businesses and families whose livelihoods depend on the industry, agriculture has a significant impact on Ohio's economy and way of life. Spending time at the State Fair was a great reminder that serving our district also means understanding the people and industries that make up our entire state. The more I learn about the different communities across Ohio, the better equipped I am to represent our district and advocate for policies that benefit Ohioans statewide.
